Learn a New Language

Duolingo is a free application available on the App Store, Google Play Store, and Windows Phone Marketplace. I use it every day. Duolingo is the perfect app to learn a new language ... or two! The app teaches you languages from all over the world, including Danish, Dutch, French, German, Italian, Portuguese and Spanish. In addition to basic vocabulary building exercises with flashcards and listening games, Duolingo also offers larger challenges that force you to put your skills into play in real-world situations. My favorite feature is the "streak" counter, which is a great way to keep you motivated. The app encourages you to keep moving forward, rather than getting stuck on one lesson. Duolingo also offers character-building exercises so that your vocabulary skills can be put into practice in real-world environments. My favorite feature of the Duolingo app is that it uses intelligent algorithms to record your progress and determine your weaknesses and strengths. It then creates a personalized study plan catered specifically to you! Duolingo forces me outside of my comfort zone and forces me to use language that I wouldn't normally use in conversations. When I hear people talking, I never know what they're saying. With Duolingo, I start to learn and understand the language that other people speak and use! It really helps me understand and practice my language skills. learn a new language Duolingo app for Android Duolingo app for iPhone Learn a New Skill

Each skill has its own set of challenges to keep you engaged and challenged! For example, there are multiple levels of golfing challenges where you must clear each course in order to move forward. But you're not just limited to golfing skills. There are also cooking, photography, chess, piano and much more! You can even learn to be a better umpire in baseball or baseball umpire simulation games. With the app, you'll get daily lessons that require you to keep your skills sharp. I use it often when I need to practice my piano or when I need to improve my golf game. It allows me to put what I know in practice in front of an audience so that one day I will use the skills in real-world situations.
